THE "LADY BLACKWOOD."—The Lady Blackscool left Sydney on the 15th December, 1844, and has met with indifferent success, having now on board only 750 barrels of oil. The termination of the voyage has caused great disappointment to all interested in it, as there are now on board sufficient provisions, wood, and water, to have lasted six months longer, but owing to the desertion or some of the crew at New Ireland, only fifteen men, including officers, have returned to Sydney. The surgeon, Mr. F. W. Hutchison (who arrived in Sydney by the Everetta some years since), aft the Lady Blackwood clandestinely during the night, on the coast of New Ireland, in company with Edward Stringer, carpenter, Thomas Waters and Nicholas Glangloff, seamen, taking with them a boat, three kegs of water, and sundry provisions. The following is the list of vessels reported:—November 5. Seamander, brig, Kyle, six months from Port Stephens, since which she had taken 160 barrols sperm. December 5. At Gower's Harbour, New Ireland, Margaret, brig, Truscott, with 120 barrels sperm, hence 25th August; she reported having spoken the Lucy Ans, Barr, three days previously, with 40 barrels sperm oil, hence 5th June last.

Vissuits for England,—The whole of the vessels on the berth are rapidly filling up, as the wool continues pouring in fast both from the interior and by vessels arriving from along the coast. The Hereford will be the first vessel, having hauled into the stream, and she will sail to-day. The Fanny is very near completed, and will get away during the week. The Trefalgar will sail on or about the 10th instant; the George, on the 17th, and the Urgent on the 25th, having now on board 400 bales wool. The Sir George Seymour will very soon have the whole of her dead weight on board, as the Australian, whaler, is about to haul alongside to discharge her oil into her.

The Jockey Maradam.—Immediately after the occurrence of the serious accident befalling young Maraden, at the Drapers' Races, on Friday, he was removed into Parramatics, and placed in the Colonial Hospital, where it is needless to add the best of medical assistance has been rendered him, and unremitting attention paid to this most disastrous case. The answer given to enquiries made at the hospital on Saturday afternoon was, that Maraden was still alive; and on his mother visiting him in the course of the day, he had shown some transient signs of sensibility, in the recognition of her. The great injury he is stated to have received, is an extensive fracture of the forehead bones; and the informant of the writer added, that some half a dozen pieces of the bone had come away.

In consequence of the many fatal accidents which have happened by horses running too near the posts, the Stewards of Newmarket Races have caused the large and fixed posts on the heath to be surrounded with turf banks, about five feet in the base, and sloping to the post, at the height of about four feet; and in other parts of the course, particularly where there are turns, they have adopted the use of slender posts, that will break on any strong pressure, which they carnestly recommend to the notice of Stewards and Managers of Races in general.—Racing Calendar, 1788.

COURT OF REQUESTS—This Court will commence its sittings at ten o'clock this morning with a list of 130 cases.

RESULTS OF SALES—Mr. Mort sold on Saturday last 11 bales and 4 pockets of wool; the washed wool realised is, 23d. per lb. and that in grease 64d. per lb. 2500 sheepskins realised from 44d. to 44d. per lb. 15 dry hides, 8s. each; and 5 casks beef tallow fetched £28 per ton—Mr. John G. Cohen sold 5 bales wool at 114d. per lb., and 1 ton colonial cheese at 34d. per lb.—Mr. Lloyd during the week also sold wool in grease at 74d. per lb., and sheepskins at 44d. per lb.

Distressing Case.—About eight weeks ago wool in grease at 7½d. per 1b., and sheepskins at 4½d. per 1b.

Distrassing Casz.—About eight weeks ago a youth named Patrick Regny, who had been employed by a settler named Alexander M'Cres, occupying a space of ground at Capity, near Wivenhoe, the residence of Charles Cowper, Esq., M.C., abscended from M'Cres's service, and returned to his parents on the North Shore. Before Regny set out on his return to M'Cres's, he enticed another boy named William Francis Wilkins from his home on the North Shore away with him, and since then neither of them have been heard of. Mr. Cowper who had been written to on the subject by Mr. Windeyer, the Senior Police Magistrate, (at the instance of Wilkins's parents, who are in great distress at his steenee), has made every enquiry in the neighbourhood of Capity after the fugitives, but without success. Wilkins's father has also been there, but could hear no tidings of either of them,—although from some circumstances which occurred he has reason to believe that his son is still concealed in that locality. Regny is a tall lad about fifteen years of age, and very much freckled. Wilkins is ten years of age, of fair complexion, has a sear on the under lip, and can read and write. His parents, although very poor, have offered a seward of £1 on his being delivered to them or to any of the Sydney Police.

Inquarers.—Last Saturday afternoon, there were two inquests held in the Wheat Sheaf being delivered to them or to any of the Sydney Palica.

Inquasts.—Last Saturday afternoon, there were two inquests held in the Wheat Sheaf public-house, Parramatta-street, on two inmates of the Benevolent Asylum; one was on the body of William Lucas, who had been received into the Asylum on the 31st December, complaining of dysentery, and died that evening. Mr. Surgeon Russell, the only witness examined, deposed that his death had been the result of natural causes, and a verdict to that effect was returned.—The other inquisition was on the body of John Howard, who had died on Friday morning. It appeared the deceased belonged to the infirm ward, and had dropped down on the floor of his room while making his bed, and instar-ily expired. On Mr. Surgeon Russell first viewing the body the features were convulsed; from other appearances, and from previous knowledge of the deceased, he con sidered death had been the result of natural causes, most probably apoplexy. The Jury returned a verdict of died by the visitation of God.

Committal.—James Corcoran, a free man, who has been executed in causing the body has been executed for the causes.

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

SUBSCRIBERS TO RAILWAYS.
ON Friday, a very remarkable document was issued by order of the House of Commons, dated July 10, in the form of a bulky blue book, containing a "Return of an Alphabetical List of Names, &c., of all persons subscribing to the amount of £2000 and upwards to the Railway Subscription Contracts deposited in the Private Bill Office in Session 1846." It will be remembered that a somewhat similar return was issued last session and all were astonished by the immense sums for which persons were there shown to be liable in consequence of their railway apeculations. The present document is, at least, as SUBSCRIBERS TO RAILWAYS liable in consequence of their railway specu-lations. The present document is, at least, as astounding; and the only difficulty is, within reasonable limits, to give a fair notion of the sums set opposite the names of immense num-bers of railway subscriptions. The following, however, are a few selected from the 300 and upwards of folio pages of which the book consists:—

FRANCE AND TAHITI.

(From the Patrict, August 27.)

THE British reader, and the common-sense readers of all countries, will be surprised to learn that Tahiti has become once more the soul-stirring topic of the French fourth estate. The apron men of Rome were never more intent on a mutiny than the gentlemen of the French Press on a European conflagration, or, which would perhaps suit them as well, upon increasing the sale of their respective journals by appeals to the basest passions of the multitude, seeking to excite once more the anti-English cry of .841.

"We publish," says the Courrier Francaiss, an article from the Portifeuille, which we entrest M. Guizot to contradict as soon as possible. If he remain silent—if he be obliged to admit that the diplomatic reviewer has spoken the truth—we cannot find expressions sufficiently strong to stigmatize the shameful conduct which the Minister for Foreign Affaim has held with regard to England on the question of arranged. M. Guinot opened in London negociations which have ended in a magnificent result—viz. that the French protectorate is to be maintained in a part of the archipelago; as to the other islands, Hushine, Bors-Bora, Ragateia, and Maupiti, they are decidedly not included in this protectorate; they are restored to the sovereignty of Queen Pomare, or in a word delivared over to the absolute dominion of England, in whose hands, it is well-known, Pomare is but a mere instrument. The convention add, indeed, that these islands cannot be given up to any European power. But this is an impudent mockery. Whom is it necessary that we inform at the present day that Queen Pomare wishes not to shake off, and that she cannot shake off, the yoke of the English? If unfortuntely this Convention exists, and the Porterfulle positively states such to be the case—if it should have received the signature of M. If Quisot—we should henceforth be surprised at nothing that emanated from such a man, or feel astosished if he were again to ask in the apenimen will, we think, suffice to show the detestable spirit of some of the Parisian prints.

The Moniteur publishes the following intelligence from Tahiti:—"The Government has received despatches from the Governor of the French Establishments in Oceania, dated the 15th of April last. Captain Bruat announces that the natives, retired into the entremeded camps of Pagenco and Punavia, attacked the block-house of Happape and the lines of Papeiti. These attacks, which took place on the 19th and 22nd of March, were vigorously and promptly repulsed. Our troops and the allied natives made sorties, which were attended with satisfactory results. A detachment of seventy inverse men of the Phacton steamer inflicted severe injury on a party of natives entrenched on another point of the coast. M. Bruat adds, that our establishments enjoy perfect security."

LEGAL AMENITIES.

DURING the progress of a trial at Bedford Assizes, whilst the late Attorney-General (Sir F. Thesiger) was addressing the Court, the right honorable gentleman paused a moment, and then exclaimed with some vehemence—"I wish you would not laugh, Mr. O'Malley, while I am speaking."

Baron Alderson said, Mr. O'Malley, as a gentleman, should know it was unbecoming to laugh while another was speaking.

Mr. O'Malley—I did not laugh. I certainly smiled at something my speech, Sir Frederick The-iger indulged very liberally in laughter.

Baron Alderson — You must know, Mr. O'Malley, and it for a gentleman—when changed with a thing—to turn round and say, "You did the same," is no answer.

Mr. O'Malley,—I did not laugh.

Baron Alderson.—You say so now. That is an answer.

Mr. O'Malley (warmly)—I said so before, and I will not submit to these imputations from any one living.

and I will not submit to these imputations from any one living.

Baron Alderson (warmly)—I will not have it here. If you interrupt the proceedings, I will have you removed out of Court.

Mr. Saunders (a barrister)—My lord, I saw Mr. O'Malley look at the Attorney General (Sir F. Thesiger) and laugh.

Mr. O'Malley denied that he had laughed, but added it was impossible he should always be master of his countenance.

Baron Alderson (vebamently)—Then hide it, sir, that is the best thing you can do.

B. — BO BUSINESS TRANSACTED OF January.

The system embraces all the branches of a sound English education, on modern and improved principles, excluding useless and superficuous studies.

Pupils are prepared, in accordance with the views of their parents, for mercantile, agricultural, or naval pursuits, theory being reduced to practice by a fictitious mode of commercial transactions between the students, assimilated to real business, without copying from printed authors. By this system, judiciously carried out in the senior class, well practised in calculations, youths on leaving school have been found competent to conduct business with facility, accuracy, and despatch, without serving a tedious appronticeship at the counting-house desk.

Mariner desirous of enlarging their knowledge of nautical astronomy, so essential to to the correct navigator, may obtain private instruction on moderate terms; and tyros, whose time will not permit to finish the whole course, will be allowed the privilege of returning to complete their theoretical studies in pavigation, by paying three guiness in advance.

For the accommodation of solicitous friendr, studies in Pavigation, by paying three guineas in advance.

For the accommodation of solicitous friendr, as well as present and promised supporters, Mr. Bradley intends to augment his establishment at the end of the present quarter; competent assistants will therefore be engaged to conduct the classical department in the usual courses of Latin, Greek, and Hebrea; with modern languages, including French by an experienced teacher, with the pure Parisian accent. sian accent.

The whole of the students will have the rivilege of attending a weekly lecture on some appropriate branch of philosophy, the arts or sciences; and the strictest attention will be paid to their morals, their health, and comforts. Sea bathing contiguous and

ON TUESDAY, 5TH JANUARY, At eleven o'clock precisely. THESE PREMISES are situated in THESE PREMISES are situated in a populous and thriving part of the city, which is daily improving in appearance, the rapid increase of respectable buildings being really surprising. The contiguity of this property to the numerous wharfs at Miller's Point, among which those of Messrs. Armitage, Thacker, Towns, Essworth, and Boyd, are very conspicuous; and the consequent vast assemblage of shipping which ever frequents the adjacent harbour, with their numerous passengers and crews, ensures a constant and certain traffic in the neighbourhood, which cannot fail to be profitable to the fortunate tenant of the "SHIP AND MERMAID," and which possesses the additional advantage and which possesses the additional advantage

It contains a kitchen and cellar, a bar room, two parlours, and three bed rooms, being a two story house, brick built, with stone foundation, and neatly stucced and painted outside. It has the convenience of a side entrance to the yard, from Windmill-street, and is leased to the present tenant, Mr. William Andrews, at a reduced rental of £136 William Andrews, at a reduced rental of £13

PRODUCTIVE CITY PROPERTY. HOUSES IN GLOUCESTER-STREET

IN SUSSEX-STREET

HOUSE, AND PLOT OF LAND IN THE REAL, MR. MORT
Is instructed to sell the above by public auction, at his Rooms. George-strest, on WEDNERDAY, 137H INSTART,

THE POLLOWING really valuable

THE FOLLOWING really valuable and productive city properties, viz.:

Two dwelling houses situate in Gloucesterstreet North, having entrance also from Sussex-street, and commanding a spleudid view of the harbour and a large portion of Sydney.

They are at present only bringing in a rental of £58 per annum, but looking to the bridge being shortly thrown over the present cut into Fort-street, rendering the access by Gloucester-street more easy and direct, and further remembering that when the new line of George-street is carried out, this property will directly abutt upon it, a much larger rental may be expected; at all events the value of the land will be trebled.

A very excellent Cottage in Sussex-street, near the corner of Liverpool-street, opposite Mr. Craig's Fiour Stores, with garden in the rear, and let at £40 per annum to Mrs. Banks.

A Cottage situate on the Strawberry Hills, being a continuation of Elizabeth-street South, containing eight rooms detached kitchen; &c., and a well of excellent water. There is about a quarter of an acre of ground in the rear, and part of the Cottage is let to Mr. Rundle at a rental of £10 per annum. The situation is delightful, and this property with af rifling outlay would be exceedingly de-

Terms, liberal, at sale. PETERSHAM RACES. HORSES. MR ARMSTRONG will sell by suction, at his Repository, on Tursday Next, the 5th Instant,

At twelve o'clock,
